Excerpt from Animal Chemistry, or Chemistry in Its Applications to Physiology and Pathology In a special chapter, newly added to the work, he has made an attempt to set in a clearer light the mutual relations of Chemistry and Physics to Physiology and Pathology; and here he cannot refrain from acknowledging how great have been his obligations, in reference to this object, to the study of Mr. Mill's System of Logic (London, 2nd ed.). Indeed, he feels that he can claim no other merit than that of having applied to some special cases, and carried out further than had been previously done, those principles of research in natural science which have been laid down by that distinguished philosopher.
