Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.In Code Name Butterfly we deal with sniping, something which is often in the media these days. There is, however, a bizarre misconception in the US that police snipers are less trained, less deadly and shoot at much shorter distances. That may be true with Sheriff Departments where SWAT is seen as the ultimate but down here we don t rate US Police SWAT highly. To be clear, not one US-based SWAT Team is rated by us as true Special Forces, they are seen as low percentage units and barely able to deal with violent criminals. In this country, South Africa, and many others, the snipers are all true Special Forces rated. They made a Selection that is rated above that of the US Navy SEALS and the Green Berets as well as the British Special Air Service in failure rates (never less than 90 failure - in 40 years, 481 men made Special Forces out of 100,000 that tried). You may take for granted, the snipers here will be every bit as good as those from the better-known units which is the whole point of the GMJ Series, I am striving to educate in what is not generally known. To make readers understand that we must get away from the OMG it is Patton or Montgomery Syndrome and realise that your enemy must be respected. Overconfidence is a killer of the innocent in war. In this book, I am explaining to you how counter snipers are used protecting a president. I am also revealing a method utterly unique to South African Special Forces, to backtrack a laser range finder by using maths and computers and doing so in seconds, thereby giving...
