Excerpt from The Spirit of a Disciple: Be not ye called Rabbi: for one, is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren- Matthew 23: 8 These words come from a chapter of contrasts; a chapter which shows the difference between profession and confession, between a gospel of formalism and a gospel of faith. This chapter reveals more passion than any other address of Jesus. His feeling is so intense that it expresses itself in vituperation. He who charges his disciples to call no man fool, calls the Pharisees hypocrites, fools, blind, serpents, vipers, and the damned of hell. Such terms as these, in a calm nature like that of Jesus, signify unspeakable intensity of passion. The reason is evident. He is dealing with his gospels greatest enemy. This enemy was not the lust of the harlot; or the ignorance of the multitude, or the carnal weaknesses of sinful flesh. He was very tender in dealing with all these. They responded to treatment. But the self-satisfaction, the spiritual hardness, the pride of intellect, the flinty and unsympathetic spirit of the statute-bound Pharisee would not respond to treatment. It never has and it rarely will. It is dry rot and leaves the soul unfertile in spite of the sunshine of divine love and the rain of divine mercy.
