Excerpt: .dividers, set them say one inch apart, and with one point following the margin of the wax, representing the cutting edge of the teeth, and the other point marking permanently the plaster, you have always in the dividers so set a gage for the length of any particular tooth. A convenient substitute for the dividers may be formed from a piece of wire of convenient length, one-half the diameter of a common excavator, by suitably twisting its middle for a handle, and its ends being sharpened, and pointing in the same direction, 1 or 1 y inches apart. Thus far we proceed as we do for ordinary gold work. We will now suppose the teeth ground and jointed, leaving as much space between the teeth and plate as the plate will admit of. We next mark with a sharp-pointed instrument on the labial surface of...
