

The Curse of the Radiant Opal

By Anskar Thorston

Jack Stuckmayer. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 324 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 4.5in. x 0.8in. The Curse of the Radiant Opal, by Anskar Thorston Minnesotan, Anskar Thorston, just out of college in 1965, took a year off to visit Australia before settling down as a high school music teacher. Starting with little money he hitchhiked to San Francisco and worked for passage on a German freighter, scrubbing latrines and peeling potatoes. Then, after working on a dam project in the Snowy Mountains, he had enough money to travel. Passing through the small mining town of Wallangulla in the Outback, where black opals are found, he noodled, (poked around in the tailings) looking for nobbyes the old miners had missed and had the good (or bad) luck to find one small stone. Then another. He was hooked and became obsessed with digging for black opals, the rarest, most beautiful, most precious gemstone in the world. So rare that most people have never heard of them, let alone seen one. His mania grew and he became impassioned with the pursuit of the rarest stone of all, the Radiant opal, also known as the fatal stone. It is said that to hold one in...
